LEASED HOUSING FOR LOW-INCOME FAMILIES APPROVED BY COUNCIL

by Al Skolnik

The city council at its January 22 meeting approved two resolutions which would permit the Housing Authority of Prince Georges County to operate a leased housing program for low-income families within the Greenbelt city limits, and which would authorize Greenbelt's participation in the program.

Under recent amendments, the Federal Housing Administration is authorized to provide financial assistance to local public housing agencies in providing low-rent housing by leasing dwelling units in existing privately-owned structures. In effect, Federal contributions would make up the difference between what the low-income tenant can afford to pay for rent and utilities and their actual cost. Because of the special needs of elderly, disabled, and handicapped persons and families, an additional Federal contribution of up to $120 a year may be made to assist such families.

According to Federal publications, the Prince Georges Housing Authority would initiate the program by surveying the local rental market to determine the number and rental of available units. The owners of available housing would then be invited to make one or more of their dwellings available for use of the Housing Authority. The leasing program is entirely a voluntary one.

Housing offered in response to the invitation would be subject to inspection. Rentals must be moderate. The rent to the owner cannot be higher than the amount of the Federal assistance plus the amount the low-income family can afford to pay — which is usually between 20 and 25 percent of its income. Tenants must be found eligible by the Authority. In general, these are families in the lowest income group who cannot afford to rent or buy decent private housing.

In another housing matter, the council referred to the city's Advisory Planning Board a proposal by the Senior Citizens' Housing Cooperative for construction of 100 units of elderly housing on the 3-acre Lutheran Church property. The organization is seeking acquisition of the property and Federal assistance and would like the support of the city in acquiring the necessary zoning.

Stop Signs

Turning from housing to roadways, the council received a recommendation from city manager James Giese for stop signs at the following locations: Legion Drive entering Lakecrest Drive; Lakeside Drive entering Lakecrest Drive; Westway entering Lakeside Drive; a 3-way stop at Maplewood and Lakeside Drive; and a 4-way stop at Research and Ridge. Council will take action at next meeting on Monday, Feb. 5.

The council voted to accept several streets in the Boxwood subdivision into the city road system. The street are Periwinkle Court, almost all of Lynbrook Court, approximately half of Rosewood Drive, a very short, small portion of Lastner Lane at its intersection with the north exit of Rosewood Drive, and the cul de sac of Tamerisk Court. These streets were satisfactorily completed by a bonding company which took over the work after Country Estates (Stanley Schultz), to whom the street permits were given, went bankrupt.

Recreation

The council received a series of reports of the Park and Recreation Advisory Board. It agreed with the Board to request the National Park Service to include a jogging trail in its development plans for the Greenbelt Regional Park. It also agreed with the Board that no action be taken on the request of the Aquatic Booster Club for an indoor swimming pool until the completion of the Recreation Advisory Board's comprehensive study of recreational needs in the city.

On the suggestion of the PRAB that certain streets, sidewalks, and other hillside be designated as sledding areas, the council objected to blocking off of streets for this purpose because of the need for keeping streets clear for fire lanes, because of problems for snow removal crews, and because of hazards to safety of children. However, Giese was asked to look into the possibility of designating off-street sledding areas.

The last report of the PRAB was deferred to a future council meeting. It dealt with establishing policy for use of city recreational facilities. Several of the recommendations, Giese said, tend to conflict with other ordinances and need further study. These include a recommendation that political rallies at the lake be required to secure a permit and that such a permit would include a guarantee as to preservation of picnic facilities at the lake.

Youth Center Director

The council finally approved a job description for the Assistant Recreation Director (Center Director), but not until after much discussion. Mayor Edgar Smith and councilman Dick Pilski feared that the job description as written would leave the impression with prospective employees that the city was seeking a second-in-command to the Recreation Director rather than a Youth Center Director who would be spending almost all his time supervising the evening programs at the Youth Center.

The council had indicated at budget time that it was interested in hiring someone for the latter duties, Smith said. Upon councilman Gerald Gough's and Francis White's suggestion, the job description was modified to eliminate the illustrative examples, which, they said, might leave the wrong impression.

Councilman Bill Hoff thought the job description was fine as presented and voted against the change, along with Pilski who wanted the job description completely rewritten.

Rental Policy

Council reaffirmed the city's current rental policy for use of the Municipal Building, which in effect includes a charge for all organizations except those that are encouraged or sponsored by city council, such as Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt and the Greenbelt Youth Council. However, the council agreed that the manager should have wide latitude in applying the rule and that groups could appeal to the city council for waiver of fees. In this connection, the council voted to refund the charge made to the Eagle Scout Review Board.

Giese announced that approval of the 2-acre purchase of parkland on parcel 15 near Greenbelt Lake is being expected from the Council of Metropolitan Governments and other planning agencies. Application for open space Federal grant money is being prepared. The city is also preparing for a court hearing in late February or early March

Freedom Of Press Rally tomorrow

A public rally in support of the Greenbelt News Review will be held tomorrow (Friday) evening, January 26, at the Center School auditorium at 8 p.m.

The rally is a follow-up to the Freedom of the Press Committee meeting of January 12, when plans were put into motion for supporting an appeal of a $17,500 judgment levied by a circuit court jury against the News Review and its president, Alfred Skolnik, in a libel action brought by Charles Bresler.

The 130 present at that meeting voted to set up an escrow fund, made up of voluntary contributions, to serve as security for the judgment while the case is under appeal and to raise additional funds to pay for the costs of an appeal. As of early this week, the Committee reported, more than $11,000 had been deposited in the escrow fund at Twin Pines.

The Freedom of the Press Committee, sponsor of tomorrow's rally, urges Greenbelters to attend so as to get first-hand information on the status of the case.

Progress reports on all aspects will be made. Plans for raising funds will be discussed by the many sub-committees that were formed following the Jan. 12 meeting. The trustees of the escrow fund will discuss the details of the fund and how it will operate.

Suggestions from the audience will be appreciated, the Committee said.

on the conveyance of the 3.3 acres of parkland on the Charlestowne tract.

A progress report on a meeting between the city council and the staff of the County Board of Education was given by Smith. Discussed were the various routes being proposed for a perimeter road through parcel 2 - the site of the 3-school complex between GHI property and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. A further in-depth study is to be made by the school board staff.

Council heard a proposal that a subway stop might be placed at the Capital Beltway rather than Greenbelt Road. The APB is studying this proposal advanced by College Park and feels it has some merit because of the traffic problems that a parking lot on Greenbelt Road would create.

Council set up a committee composed of Carrie Harper, Mary Jane Kinzer, Bill Hoff, and James Smith (4 court Southway) to make recommendations regarding the establishments of a Greenbelt historical society.

Mayor Smith renamed Albert Cousin, Darwin L. Beck, and Margaret Baldwin to the Community Relations Advisory Board, subject to their acceptance.

The Police Blotter

On Jan. 22 the manager of a gas station on Greenbelt Rd. reported an apparent breaking and entering and the theft of 9 tires and $300 in cash. Intensive investigation by Greenbelt Police Officers Van Valkenberg and Reamy resulted in the apprehension of an employee and recovery of most of the goods and money. The employee involved is awaiting Grand Jury action.

A car stolen from Springhill Lake was recovered several days later by Fairfax police as a result of a teletype look-out. The suspect will be returned here and charged with automobile larceny.

A scuffle between some men at Springhill Lake resulted in a wound requiring treatment at Prince Georges Hospital. No charges were placed.

Radar will be used this week and next to apprehend speeders in Greenbelt.

Chief Lane reminds Greenbelt motorists that it is illegal to park within 25 feet of an intersection and that the right wheel must be toward the curb.

Among incidents reported to police this week were an attempted suicide, two missing wives (who returned home eventually), and four uninvited and aggressive guests at a teen-age birthday party.

BULLETIN

A motion for a new trial by the Greenbelt News Review in the libel action brought by Charles S. Bresler was denied by Judge Robert B. Mathias in the Circuit Court yesterday. A jury had awarded the developer $17,500 in damages on January 9.

Child Psychology Lecture For Parents

On Wednesday evening, January 31, Dr. Robert Snyder, Assistant Supervisor of Psychological Services of Prince Georges County will speak at the Springhill Lake Community School. Dr. Snyder's topic will be Communicating With Your Child. His talk will cover communicating with your child at home, in regard to school, and the non-communicating child. All parents are urged to attend. The lecture-discussion will be held in the school multi-purpose room at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the lecture. There will be no admission charge.

Contract Awards For New Library

A $794,000 contract for the construction of the long-awaited new library in Greenbelt was awarded on Friday, January 19, by the Prince Georges County Commissioners. The library, which will be located near Center School off Crescent Road, will be a two-story building, 132-feet long on each side. According to the conditions of the advertisement for the contract, construction should be completed within 360 days.

With a 150,000 book capacity, the 35,000 square-foot facility will include reading rooms for both children and adults, a 60' x 45' meeting room which will include a speakers platform and a screen and projection booth, offices and storage areas.

Vice-Chairman Francis B. Francois declared, "The Board of Commissioners is delighted to see this major library facility now on the way to becoming a reality, culminating years of effort on the part of both the Greenbelt citizens and the County. This library is one of which we will all be proud and is designed to meet the needs of the people in the area for many years to come."

The new library will be a vast improvement over the present facilities which are located in a room in Center School with the limited area for only 14,000 books. The Greenbelt library was started in 1939 by a group of concerned citizens and joined with the Prince Georges Library system in 1955.

The contract was awarded to an Edmonston firm, Avery Construction Co., Inc.; it has been designed by Walton and Madden, Architects, who also designed Greenbelt's municipal building.

The Library Board, in its next meeting, scheduled for February 14, will discuss the holding of a ground-breaking ceremony for the new library.

Rapid Transit Hearings

There will be two public hearings on the proposed Regional Rapid Rail Transit Plan next week, both of them conducted by Carlton R. Sickles. The first will be held Tuesday, Jan. 30 at 8 p.m. at the P. G. County Courthouse, Upper Marlboro. The second, Wednesday, Jan. 31, at 2 p.m. in the P. G. County Service Building, Hyattsville, Md.

..... City Notes

Some of the activity around the city this week was a direct result of the meeting of council with residents of the Lakeside area. As agreed upon at that meeting, the animal warden was assigned to two full-time days of duty, and patrolled the city on both Friday and Saturday. In addition, he will increase the number of hours he spends each week on animal patrol above his full-time duties as a Public Works Dept. employee. He is on call at all times during the work day, whenever complaints come in.

The city, in response to complaints of speeding along Lakeside Dr., is starting a campaign to enforce existing traffic laws. The Greenbelt Police Dept. has negotiated with the Laurel Police Dept. for frequent loan of their radar equipment, and policemen were posted during rush hour periods last week on Lakeside Drive.

Public Works Director Albert S. Attick, following expressions of concern about possible flooding near the southern bay end of the lake, investigated the storm sewer pipes which have their outlet there. Although these have been carrying enormous amounts of silt from construction projects in Charles-towne Village and University Square, they are in no danger of being blocked, Attick reports. In heavy run-offs, the silt now deposited near the pipes will be carried further into the lake by the force of the current.

Scheduling a time for cleaning out the lake may be difficult, City Manager James K. Giese reports, since a period of dry weather will be essential. Yet the city does not wish to interfere with summer recreational uses of the lake.

The Public Works Dept. cleaned storm sewers at the end of Maplewood Ct. (where they found a bicycle wheel stopping the drain) and at 32 and 14 Cts. of Ridge. They also paved the street in front of the new curbing and gutters from 57 to 59 Ridge and in front of the North End School. At the request of the management of Springhill Lake, they carted off large accumulations of Christmas trees to the city dump.

In response to the council's authorization of improved lighting throughout the city, Pepco has been installing additional street lights in the North End. A light is being placed on every utility pole in that section, rather than on every other pole. Since the North End lamps were ordered about two weeks before the new street lamps for Centerway, the city management estimates that installation of the Centerway lights will also occur soon.

Two New Courses at JCC

On Monday, February 5, the Jewish Community Center will begin two new courses for adults. Classes will be held in the JCC building on Monday nights, and the courses will run concurrently for 8 weeks each.

One class, held from 8 to 9 p.m., is designed to acquaint students with the Passover Hagadah and to teach them to read and chant some of its more significant sections. The other class, scheduled from 9:10 to 10 p.m. and taught by Rabbi Maurice Weisenberg, will review modern Jewish history, beginning with the 19th century.

For further information contact the JCC, 474-4223, or call Ralph Mollerick, Adult Education Chairman, 577-5462 (evenings only).

Film Series at Library

The Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Memorial Library is offering a Thursday night film program, starting February 1 at 7:30 p.m. Sixteen outstanding films covering a wide variety of subjects will be shown.

Kent Moore, films librarian, said the opening program would be the showing of "Kon-Tiki," a 75-minute exciting documentary record of the 48-day journey across the Pacific Ocean by Thor Heyerdahl and five Scandinavian scientists in 1947.

On February 8, "The Hunters" will be shown. This color film is a study of the life and culture of primitive African bushmen, portrayed through the adventures of four men and the giraffe they hunt on the Kalahari Desert. It runs 73 minutes.

On February 15, as part of the library's observance of the 42nd annual Negro History Week (February 11-17), the film "Nothing But A Man," will be shown. This 92-minute dramatic portrait of a young Alabama Negro couple's struggle to make a secure and dignified life for themselves has won many awards. In 1964 it was given a prize at the City of Venice Film Festival. In 1965 it won the award of the National Council of Churches. It is skillfully performed by Ivan Dixon and Abby Lincoln.

The library will be closed Thursday, February 22, for Washington's birthday, and on February 29, a unique documentary about an expedition to New Guinea in 1961-63 will be shown. Titled "Dead Birds," it runs 83 minutes in color. There is no charge.

BOWIE STATE TO EXPAND

Bowie State College, in order to accommodate the expected 2000 student enrollment in 1970 and the 5000 by 1975 will initiate a wide range of liberal arts curricula, along with a Master's Degree program in both Elementary and Secondary Education in 1968. Within the next years it is expected that an administration building, a fine arts and auditorium building, a swimming pool and gymnasium, a new library, an athletic field, and a new president's residence will all be added to the college campus.

CREDIT UNION ANNUAL MEETING

The annual membership meeting of the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Co-op Community Room, located on the second floor of the Greenbelt Supermarket.

Annual reports to the membership will be made and elections will be held to fill four positions on the Board of Directors and one position on the Credit Committee. Incumbents Joseph C. Mousley, Allen J. English, Cyril S. Turner, and Thomas McGlynn have been nominated to fill the board positions. Carl L. Eubank has been nominated for another term on the Credit Committee. Members may make additional nominations for these positions from the floor. The three remaining positions on the 7-man board are filled by Benjamin Rosenzweig, James S. Beck, and Joseph D. Comproni, who were elected to 2-year terms last year.

Organized in 1937, the credit union was among the first organizations to serve the then new community of Greenbelt. Its assets passed the $1 million mark during 1967. Membership in this cooperative thrift and loan organization is open to residents of Greenbelt and to members of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc. in neighboring Co-op store areas.

The first such class of its kind to be conducted, the specialized education program was financed under the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA).

Applications are still being accepted for the next class, which gets underway on February 6. For information and details on the applications, contact Mrs. Diana Collins, 341-2223, who is coordinating the hospital instruction program. MARCH OF DIMES

The 1968 campaign of the MARCH OF DIMES is going into the home stretch in the last week of January.

Traditionally January has been "March of Dimes Month" commemorating the founding of the voluntary health agency by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whose birthday was January 30th.

Charles Dukes, Jr., Prince Georges' General Campaign Chairman, stated "Those residents of the area who have not contributed to the March of Dimes, to aid in the fight against birth defects, are urged to mail in a contribution to the National Capital Area Chapter, National Foundation-March of Dimes, which includes the affiliate of Prince Georges County."

Mrs. Lee F. Bruer, Mothers' March local chairman, announced that the Mothers' March of the March of Dimes will continue through the weekend of January 26th, in order to reach as many residents, in person, as is possible.

PG Arts Directory

Roger Stevens, Chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, will accept the first copy of the Directory Edition of the Newsletter for the Arts in Prince Georges County from Mrs. Gladys Spellman, Chairman, Prince Georges County Commissioners. The long-awaited Directory represents a first attempt at listing all groups in the County who are concerned with presenting or encouraging the arts locally. The center fold will consist of an impressive calendar of events through June, 1968. The attractive 6 x 9" booklet will be extensively distributed through Arts groups to their audiences, schools, and Welcome Wagon hostesses, and will also be available at libraries, banks, the County Courthouse and the County Service Building. Thirty thousand copies will be printed, even though requests have already exceeded this number.

The Directory will serve to inform County residents of what cultural activities are available to them in their own and surrounding communities. A short paragraph describes many of the groups, and each entry lists a contact person who may be called for further information.

Advice On Solicitors

Many business firms and individuals, because of the licensing laws, are required to carry an identifying SOLICITORS and PEDDLERS permit. The Prince Georges County Police Department neither recommends nor endorses the bearer of a County permit, the merchandise, the services offered, nor the business methods used in selling them.

The Prince Georges Police Department asks your cooperation by observing the following rules:

1. Always ask a solicitor to show his permit and examine it to see whether the expiration date has passed.
2. Pay no money in advance to any solicitor, because you may not get the articles you pay for.
3. Buy no merchandise from strangers who give the impression that the goods offered are a great bargain. Many times they will be found to be faked or stolen property.
4. Never permit a solicitor or any other stranger to enter your house, but make him transact his business in the vestibule or doorway with the inside chain on the door. Don't leave him or her standing in the open doorway while you go into another part of the house.

Advise the Police Department at once, 444-1111 (Greenbelt Police, 474-5454) in the following cases:

1. If a solicitor has no permit, or if the permit has expired.
2. If you are defrauded by a solicitor or if you are not sure of a so-called "bargain".

Demand to see the credentials of any unknown person who represents himself as a public utility employee, or public servant who wants to enter your house. His picture should be on the credentials. Examine the latter closely; if in doubt, call the police.

Remember that today's thief does not look like a thug. So don't trust persons with whom you come in contact because they are prosperous looking, are smooth talkers and have polished manners.

Under no circumstances should you inform strangers of your neighbors' absence.

Beware of hiring transients and give no money to anyone unless you are absolutely sure of the person and the cause they represent.

Harman Explains New Postal Rates

Postmaster Emory A. Harman last week reminded mailers that new higher postage rates became effective Jan. 7, including the 6-cents-an-ounce charge for first class letters.

Other rates effective Jan. 7, he noted, are: 10 cents an ounce for air mail, 5 cents each for postal cards, and 8 cents each for air postal cards.

The postmaster assured local residents plenty of one-cent stamps are on hand for use with any existing stocks of 5-cent stamps they may have on hand.

There are also adequate supplies of 6-cent stamps to meet the new first-class letter rate available at the post office.

The higher rates became effective January 7 also for other categories of mail used primarily by large-volume mailers. These include bulk third-class advertising mail rates, special rates for books, films and records.

The post office is working closely with commercial mailers to provide them with every possible assistance in complying with the technical provisions of these rate changes, Mr. Harman noted.

A Bicycle is Not a Toy!

Did Santa bring your child a bicycle this Christmas? If so, the American Automobile Association asks parents to remember that a bicycle is not a toy. It is possibly the child's first active encounter with fast-moving traffic.

Safe - riding suggestions for bicyclists include:

1. Keep well back from moving cars—they may stop suddenly.
2. Be alert for pedestrians who might step from between parked cars.
3. Watch out for doors of parked cars that might be opened suddenly.
4. Avoid riding too fast down hill or on rough slippery roads.
5. Signal for turns and stops.
6. Keep both hands on the handlebars except when signaling for turns.
7. Be seen when riding at night. Have a good headlight and tail-light or reflector and wear light colored clothing.
